

The YouTuber and the Dare

By Kemal

One day a YouTuber was looking at his videos to check how many views he had on his YouTube channel. While he was checking he saw a comment saying "I dare you to go to the haunted house on Crimson Drive, the creepiest haunted house ever!!!". He looks it up on his GPS to check where the haunted house was because he had never heard of it before. It was located at the town next door. He then decided to accept the challenge. He thought midnight would be the perfect time to go to a haunted house because he would get more views. He started packing and put a flash light, his filming equipment and some food in his backpack. And then he drove to Crimson Drive in the middle of the night. In half an hour he was in front of the haunted house.

The house was located at the end of the street. There were standard looking houses next to it but there was no sign of life in them either. There were street lights on the street but they were not working. So he turned on his flash light. The haunted house looked crooked and run down but it was HUGE and SUPER TALL. It looked like it once was owned by a millionaire. The YouTuber had second thoughts about going into the haunted house but eventually he decided to go inside.

He tried to open the door but it was locked. So he grabbed his camera stand out of his backpack and hit the door as hard as he could with it. The door eventually broke open. When the door opened, he turned his camera on and started filming. He was streaming live. The first thing he saw when he pointed the flash light inside was spiderwebs. Everywhere. Next were some chains hanging loose off the ceiling and lying on the ground. He also saw some bugs crawling around. There were some pieces of furniture here and there but most of them were broken. Only the mirror at the end of the hallway was in good shape. He got scared but he knew that he had to do this now that he was streaming live. He looked in the mirror and saw a reflection of himself but this was not an ordinary reflection. This was instead a reflection of him as a skeleton. He got so scared that he screamed "What is happening!?!". He looked in the mirror again and this time he just saw himself, normally. He felt relieved and said "this place is crazy".

He decided to step the challenge up a notch by going down to the basement of the haunted house. Unfortunately he did not have anything in mind to film there. Luckily he found a book in the corner lying on the ground. It was a thick book like a dictionary that gave information about every single supernatural being in the universe. He turned the pages until he was at the last page while still filming. The last page was about the most powerful supernatural being in the universe, according to the book. There were no pictures in the book but it did say how to pronounce the beings' names. The being in the last page was called: LORD OF SOULS. It controlled the universe and would be mad at the person who summons it. But of course the YouTuber did not pay attention to anything about the supernatural being. The only thing he paid attention to was how to summon it.

"Light begone. Darkness shall rise. The lord shall rule once more". Those were the words that needed to be said to summon the Lord of Souls. Of course the arrogant YouTuber did not take any part of it seriously. He put the camera down at the right angle to continue filming and he made fun of the information about Lord of Souls. He started acting even more obnoxiously towards the book and took one step further by saying the words, to summon Lord of Souls, live.

As he was saying the words, the room started to become foggy. And eventually the fog turned pitch black. The YouTuber was so scared that he closed his eyes and started praying that nothing bad would happen... However he began hearing some ghostly sounds. It was like moaning in pain. The fog was becoming a little lighter in shade. He saw that the book was shaking and floating in the air at the same time. And something dark was emerging out of it. It had shiny red eyes that seemed like it was glowing in the dark. The fog was clearing up a bit which meant that he could see more details on the creature. But he could not move because it suddenly started making a hissing sound. The voice was coming from the book. The YouTuber slowly opened his eyes. He could now see that Lord of Souls was standing right in front of him. Suddenly he felt ice cold. The Lord of Souls was opening his mouth slowly but surely. His mouth was like a black hole in shape. A perfect circle. The YouTuber felt like his soul was being sucked out of his body. He could not take a single breath.

With the last bit of his energy he reached out to his phone that was still filming and managed to grab it only to drop it again right away. The sound his phone made when it hit the floor startled the ghost [aka The Lord of Souls] and got him distracted which gave the YouTuber some time to run away. So he sprinted to his car as fast as he could. The Lord of Souls saw him run away and got EVEN MADDER! And started chasing him FAST. When the YouTuber was in his car, the ghost was at the FRONT DOOR. The YouTuber panicked because his car would not start. He thought it was GAME OVER...but then he saw police lights coming to the haunted house. Because remember he was still filming when he was at the basement so the people watching this called 911. The YouTuber closed his eyes in hopes that the police car would come in time, and guess what it did. Well sort of the cops came when the ghost aka [The Lord of Souls] was at the car door. The cops saw this and ran to the car and tried to rescue him and the Lord Of Souls saw them and just disappeared like he did not exist at all in the first place. The cop asked if he was okay and he was alright. But may be he was not alright. He did not know if he was alright any more...
